Book discussion group meets at the Macomb County Library

CLINTON TONWSHIP, Mich. – “Team of Rivals: The Political Genius of Abraham Lincoln” will be discussed at an ongoing book group meeting at the Macomb County Library.

The first meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 28. The group will continue to meet at 7 p.m. on the last Tuesday of each month, from January through May, and will focus on biographies and non-fiction works.

Historian Doris Kearns Goodwin’s book about Lincoln delves into the relationships between the president and three of his rivals for the Republican nomination for presidency in 1860: William H. Seward, Salmon P. Chase and Edward Bates. All three served terms in Lincoln’s cabinet. Lincoln’s exemplary leadership in turning his rivals into allies is the main focus of the book.

The March discussion selection is “Shadow Divers,” by Robert Kurson. This exciting adventure story tells of the real-life discovery two divers made of a German U-boat off the coast of New Jersey. This program is part of the “Everyone’s Reading” series of programs, sponsored by Macomb County Library and other area libraries.
